

Spacecraft Body

NASA's Fermi mission studies powerful objects and explosive events in order to understand Nature at its ultimate limits.

Hypernova

When a massive star explodes, it is called a supernova. If the star is very massive, more than 40 times that of the Sun, and spins rapidly, it may form a Hypernova, a kind of super-supernova.

